White Sulphur Springs.

Washington society has been well represented at the Greenbrier during the autumn season. Mrs. Stephen E. Elkins came here from Hallehurst at Elkins, intending to make a long stay, and joining Messrs. Stephen and Davis Elkins, who were unfortunately called on to New York for important busi-ness conferences, so Mrs. Elkins has gone up to spend some time at the Ritz Carlton Hotel to be near them.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Belmont came here from Belmont, Newport, that Mrs. Belmont might take the cure. Meanwhile Mr. Belmont, who plays golf every morning, is also enjoying the hunting. With Superintendent Hunter, of the Greenbrier, he hunted on a Greenbrier Mountain on Wednes-day, bringing in a bag of twenty-two grouse, the best bag of the season. Mrs. Belmont and Mrs. James Brown Potter, who is also taking the cure, drive daily and were among those having tea at Elmhurst Farm on Wednesday.

Mrs. John A. Logan arrived from New York this week and will remain through the month to take the cure. Also here are the following people with society affiliations in Washing-ton: Mr. Frank D. Frazier, whose engagement to the daughter of Sir Frederick and Lady Williams-Taylor, of Montreal, was announced last week; Mrs. John Turner Atterbury and Mrs. Oliver Iselin, Mrs. William Bar-clay Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. E. Everett Gibbs, of Baltimore; Mrs. Paul Tuck-erman, of Tuxedo; Miss Evelyn Bur-den and Mrs. Henry Clews.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Conant, of Washington, arrived at the Green-brier on Wednesday to remain some time.

The Duchesse de Chaulnes is to make an indefinite stay here. The little Duc Emmanuel is riding horse-

SYLVIA CLUB ENTERTAINS.

Gives Halloween Dance and Supper on Tuesday.

The first of a series of entertain-ments to be given by the Sylvia Fes-ture Club this winter was a Halloween masquerade dance and supper on Tuesday evening. Some of those pres-ent in costume were Mrs. Lulu Martin as an Indian squaw; Mrs. Nel-lie Davis, Colonial Dame; Miss Maud Cook, Martha Washington; Miss Eva Umhu, Sydney girl; Miss Louise O'Neill, queen of diamonds; Miss Ger-trude Walker, queen of hearts; Miss Bertha Hayes, folly girl; Edward Mar-tin as "white wings"; John Torney, engineer; Harmon Cook, machinist; Raymond Embrey, the Dutchman; Al-bert Mueller, the clown, and Clarence Martin, Continental soldier.

Others in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Harry O'Neill, Charles Keys, A. G. Hermann, George and William Um-hau, Everett O'Neill, Russell Hayes, Mrs. Jane Wilker, Addison Davis, and Edward Kelly.

No Escape in Their Territory.
Capt. French, with two sergeants and four constables of the Northwest Mount-ed Police, is preparing to start on an expedition into the Arctic regions in search of the Eskimos who murdered Radford and Street, the explorers, two years ago. The trip, it is expected, will occupy three years, and may be full of danger. The prospects are nevertheless that it will be crowned with success. The Mounted Police never let a murderer escape in their territory. The chase is invariably maintained until the shadders of blood are brought to justice or perish in the wilderness. That is why far nor-thern Canada is a pretty safe country to travel in.—Montreal Gazette.
